PROFILE

Software developer passionate about UI design and problem solving with a strong interest in ReactJS and React Native. Insatiable eagerness to learn and self-develop to create high-quality, scalable, and reusable code.

Covid-19 has led me to re-think a successful career in sales, and my creativity and passion for learning new things led me to study web development full-time until I got my first junior front-end developer role at PageSuite in March 2022.

In addition to my work with PageSuite, I've worked on various side projects to put all my learning to the test, including the mobile clones of apps like Instagram, Netflix, and facebook. Check out my github.com/a4my to view my full portfolio.
